Good morning to thee,
gentle friend and traveler!
No matter what time of day it might be when thou art reading this -- no matter what the hour of the clock -- I say
because this very moment brings to thee the coming of the dawn. The dawn, as everyone knows, is the moment when illumination comes. The dawn marks the end of the long dark night. It is the moment that marks a new beginning. It is mine humble hope that these words may be for thee a dawning, or at least, a sort of awakening...
